SILENT AUCTION & RAFFLE

Among the first group of women to respond to John Cardinal O'Connor's inspiration for the Sisters of Life was Mother Agnes Mary Donovan. She received a PhD in Psychology from the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill in 1985.

In the years prior to religious life Mother Agnes was a faculty member and professor of psychology at both Columbia University in New York City and The College of William and Mary in Williamsburg, Virginia. Her professional career as an academic and clinical psychologist included a positions as Director of Research at Columbia University's Literacy Center; the Graduate Program Coordinator of the School Psychology Program at The College of William and Mary, and a private practice providing family intervention for families suffering relational distress. She is a licensed Clinical Psychologist and a certified School Psychologist both in New York and Virginia.

In an academic career of five years Mother Agnes Mary, SV presented numerous papers in academic forums and published articles in the areas of family intervention, mother/child relationships and familial factors favoring children's learning.

Responsible for anchoring a new religious community in its charism and guiding it to holiness, Mother Agnes is often called on across the country to share the message of reverence for human life, the gift and patrimony of the Institute she leads.

Mission Statement

Our mission is to implement the U.S. Conference of Catholic Bishops' Pastoral Plan for Pro-Life Activities in the Diocese of Fort Worth, Texas, and in so doing, join the nationwide effort to protect, nurture and sustain human life from conception to natural death so that we and the people in our diocese can become, what our Holy Father asks us to be, a people of life and a people for life.

We will implement this Plan through the four primary activities listed in the document: Education in the Catholic community and the public square; Care and Services for women with problems related to pregnancy, for those who are disabled, sick or dying and their families, and for those who have been hurt by abortion; Advocacy for public policies that protect the lives of unborn children and those vulnerable to pressure to end their own lives; and Prayer that the culture of death will be replaced by a culture of life and love.
